Layne Kendig was born in York, Pennsylvania in 1938. As a boy he liked to draw flowers and trees. His mother gave him his first oil painting set when he was 9. He painted trees, flowers and still lifes of fruit. He moved to Ohio in his early teens. As a young adult, with family, there wasn't any time for artwork.

At the age off 55, he became interested in painting again as therapy following a serious illness. Watercolor painting has given him a zest for life as no other medium has. His work is exhibited in many galleries in North-eastern Ohio. His work has a quality of a fine draftsman and his use of light and color show his individual approach to watercolor.

He has taken watercolor workshops in Maine, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, working with leading artists. His love of painting has turned into a full time career as an artist and instructor. He is an active member of the Whiskey Painters of America and is also an associate member of the Ohio Watercolor Society. He has won numerous awards for his paintings and has been featured in newspaper and magazine articles.

Recently his artwork was selected for the seasonal holiday cards distributed by the Cleveland Sight Center. Presently he is teaching watercolor classes at Willoughby Hills City Hall, Willoughby Hills, Ohio.
